Not only are there no flts to get me there on time Friday, but we're told it's not within the ethics act to travel for GOP function, which is fine and I agree with... But what is puzzling is why we're hearing that even dropping into the mtg in the evening (which I thought would be "off hours") to make a quick intro of the keynote speaker, is something that couldn't be accepted under new ethics act.

I'm not going to beat my head against a wall over this - I either get there or I don't... and I feel bad for Janice having to ask Gary for assistance on finding flts- evidently he doesn't look fondly on doing travel anymore, as I believe he's also told Todd he doesn't do travel. The option of taking the kids out of school for another two days to catch an evening flt to ensure a Friday in Anchorage is taken off the table.

Thanks - and don't worry about all this - again I'll get to Anchorage at some point to at least meet with the Mayors who've requested another mtg.

Dear Governor Palin,

Governor Palin has made a challenge...

This is exciting! Since the state of Alaska has decided to not accept our offer to join forces with AKAHPERD I can only figure that the state wants to take on the responsibility of getting Alaskans moving on it's own and with state dollars, so is this a good time to discontinue the Healthy Futures initiative? We have a 10 year commitment from ConocoPhillips for funding, but it does not make sense in a state of 600,000 + people to be taking CP's money if the state has built it in their budget and they do not want to partner, but would rather compete with other statewide grassroots programs. Best wishes and thanks for taking on the challenge! I am sure ConocoPhillips will be happy to hear that the state feels that it is their job improve physical activity and they want to do it on their own with their own dollars. It's great to find out we have the dollars in the state budget to fund these important issues, keep up the great work!

Subject: Response to Kristy Tibbles

In your letter addressed to me concerning sheep hunting in Units 13D and 14A. The reason you gave for turning those units into drawings, was to put forth the effort of maintaining a trophy population, preserving genetics and that the overall sheep population in this area is not in jeopardy.

You informed me, that since the sheep population in this area is not in jeopardy. The changes made by the Board of Game where made to maintain a trophy population, thus preserving a high quality sheep hunt and that the Board of Game, did not have to follow the sustained yield principals in Alaska Statute 16.05.256 which states: Whenever it is necessary to restrict the taking of big game so that the opportunity for state residents to take big game can be reasonably satisfied In accordance with sustained yield principles, The Board of Game will limit the taking of big game by nonresidents and nonresident aliens to accomplish that purpose.

I would like to know where you received your information from??? I was present at the Spring 2007 meeting of The Alaska Board of Game. The only proposal from the Alaska Department of Fish and Game was proposal 158 5 AAC 85.055 (a) Hunting seasons and bag limits for Dall Sheep. Create a new Dall Sheep drawing hunt area within Units 13D and 14A, Chugach Mountains. Pages 149, 150 and 151 of the spring 2007 Alaska Board of Game Meeting. That proposal clearly stated, that the reason behind that proposal was the 35 percent reduction in total number of rams observed during survey flights. That proposal also states that the level of contribution of horn size attributes passed on by ewes, as far as Dall Sheep are concerned, HAS YET TO BE DOCUMENTED!!!! Under that proposal The Board of Game should follow the sustained yield principal and restrict nonresidents only. Especially when they have the highest success rate and are the primary reason for the number of rams being harvested.

I would like to know if it common practice for The Board of Game or The Department of Fish and Game to routinely pass new regulations based on totally different information provided by there own biologists within The Department of Fish and Game?

Sincerely

Coby Thomas

U.S. Senate Passes Second Chance Act

The U.S. Senate passed today the Second Chance Act of 2007. This landmark bill, introduced by Senators Joseph Biden (D-DE), Sam Brownback (R-KS), Patrick Leahy (D-VT), and Arlen Specter (R-PA), provides critical resources designed to reduce recidivism and increase public safety. The legislation passed the Senate by unanimous consent and now proceeds to the President's desk for signature.

"The passage of the Second Chance Act reflects the strong consensus that improving prisoner reentry is not a partisan issue, but a matter of public safety, improving lives, and making effective use of taxpayer dollars," said Assemblyman Jeffrion Aubry, Justice Center board member and chair of the New York State Assembly Correction Committee.

The Second Chance Act includes key elements of President Bush's Prisoner Reentry Initiative, announced in the 2004 State of the Union address, which provides for community and faith-based organizations to deliver mentoring and transitional services. The bill will also help connect people released from prison and jail to mental health and substance abuse treatment, expand job training and placement services, and facilitate transitional housing and case management services.

"It is vitally important that we do everything we can to ensure that, when people get out of prison, they enter our communities as productive members of society, so we can start to reverse the dangerous cycles of recidivism and violence, " said Senator Leahy. "I hope that the Second Chance Act will help us begin to break that cycle."

According to the U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Statistics, an estimated 95 percent of all state prisoners will be released-with half of these individuals expected to return to prison within three years for the commission of a new crime or violation of their conditions of release. This cycle of recidivism not only compromises public safety, but also increases taxpayer spending. A February 2007 report from The Pew Charitable Trusts stated that if federal, state, and local policies and practices do not change, taxpayers are expected to pay as much as $27.5 billion on prisons alone from 2007 to 2011 on top of current corrections spending.

"The Second Chance Act will provide an opportunity for realistic rehabilitation for the more than 650,000 inmates who return to their communities each year," said Senator Specter. "The bill's focus on education, job training, and substance abuse treatment is essential to decreasing the nationwide recidivism rate of 66 percent."

The Chamber's Position on Global Climate Change

By Tom Donohue

Most Americans have decided that climate change is happening and that human activity is a contributing factor. Today, the real debate is over what to do about it. Policymakers and the public have a range of views about how we should respond to climate change--and so does the business community.

Where does the Chamber stand, and how are we approaching this debate?

Subject: Interview Request For Governor Palin

Hello,

My name is Jon Schoepke, and I am the producer of the Big Wild Radio Show

www.thebigwild.com. We are an outdoors show based out of Madison, Wisconsin that is syndicated on 19 stations throughout 56different states (MN, WI, IL, NE, MI, and IA).

I would like to make an interview request for Sarah Palin.

The phone interview lasts for 13 minutes and it happens on Fridays from 10 AM to 1 PM Central Time.

We would like to interview Sarah in regards to her fishing experiences! If she would like to talk about anything else outdoor related as well that would be perfect.

Governor Appoints Three to Board of Fisheries

March 11, 2007, Juneau, Alaska - Governor Sarah Palin today announced her recommendations to the legislature for three vacancies on the Alaska Board of Fisheries. Governor Palin is recommending the reappointment of John Jensen, of Petersburg, and Mel Morris, of Kodiak, and the appointment of William Brown, of Juneau, to the board.

"I am pleased to advance the names of these three fine individuals to the legislature for confirmation," said Governor Palin. "They will bring unique knowledge, expertise and balance to the process, and I am delighted that they are willing to serve on this important board."

Jensen is a lifelong resident of Petersburg and a third-generation commercial fisherman who has participated in fisheries since 1965. He has owned and operated many different commercial fishing vessels and has participated in fisheries in Southeast Alaska, Prince William Sound, Cook Inlet, the Gulf of Alaska, the Alaska Peninsula, Bristol Bay, the Bering Sea and Aleutian Islands, and Western Alaska. Jensen currently serves as vice-chair of the board and is completing his second three-year term.

Morris has been an Alaska resident for more than 50 years and currently resides in Kodiak. His background includes experience as a fisheries biologist for the Alaska Department of Fish and Game, service in the U.S. Army and management of several fish processing companies. He currently operates M&M Marketing. Morris currently serves as chair of the board and is completing his second three-year term.

Brown is a lifelong angler who has traveled extensively to experience new fishing opportunities. He received a Ph.D. in economics from the University of Colorado and spent many years as a professor of economics, most recently at the University of Alaska Southeast. Brown owns and operates a reel repair business.

The seven members of the Alaska Board of Fisheries are appointed by the Governor to conserve and develop the fishery resources of the state. The board sets seasons, bag limits, methods and means for the state's subsistence, commercial, sport, guided sport and personal-use fisheries, and it sets policy and direction for the management of the state's fishery resources. The board is charged with making allocative decisions, while the Department of Fish and Game is responsible for management based on those decisions. All appointees are subject to legislative confirmation.

Lyda called me and said she never said what was quoted. I suggested that it be corrected and she said it won't do any good - because the media doesn't care about the truth. I also told her that the only thing accurate is that I was with you at the Miners. I told her that you did not make any promises; I was there. I told Lyda that I've had conversations with Denise and she agrees with me - the Governor DID NOT make any promises. She said that's contrary to what Denise has told her and she'll follow-up with her. I reminded Lyda that I was there, I should know and someone needs to get their facts straight.

Also I thought Denise said she talked w/Bill. Don't think she has yet. She talked with Mark. I'll follow-up again w/her.

She said that she hasn't read it; she doesn't read blogs. And, I said you might want to read this one considering it is Channel 2 News. I read the paragraph to her about the no veto pledge. She went on to say that they never said anything about no veto pledges but that the Governor said she would revisit the project. But then later said she hasn't had an opportunity to talk to the Senator since the meeting this morning. I told her to read the statement, it is a quote from Senator Green and I don't appreciate having our names tied to lies. She told me she would talk to the Senator and call me back.

Governor:

I would like to follow up with week with Joe Perkins on the comments that the USCG will not issue a permit for placing the terminal at the Port where Mayor Begich wants it. If that is the position of the USCG, I would like to get a letter from the Commander or person in charge of permitting that says as much. We could then attach that letter and possibly a letter from the Corps outlining the $5 million a year in dredging costs to our letter of support for the project to be built at Ship Creek. This would clearly show that Mayor Begich is being unreasonable.

Mayor Menard invited me to attend the next mediation session with Senator Murkowski's staff in Anchorage. If it is alright with you, I would like to attend. While there, I will also meet with central region DOT personnel and review a plat of the area to see if there are any other options nearby. (Although it sounds like the Mat-Su folks have already reviewed this, they may have missed something).

On the rail extension to Port Mackenzie, it seems like a great project. I would like to check with the Railroad and find out why they are not putting any of the federal funding they receive each year into the project. (I think they average $50-60 million a year)

Thanks,

Dear Govenor Palin,

Last year at the Juneau Health Fair, some nurses from Bartlett Beginnings at Bartlett Regional Hospital had a breastfeeding promotion table. We asked participants to share their thoughts about breastfeeding. You wrote, "I learned with 4 kids, the longer length of breastfeeding, the better. First baby 3 mon, Second baby 6 mon, 3rd baby 18 months, 4th baby 3 years."

We are making a PowerPoint slide show of many of comments, and want to include yours. We would like to quote you. i.e. add your name to your quote. Can we do that? Many other quotes were wonderful too, but of course coming from the govenor, yours would be very powerful, and a great role model. Please consider letting as add your name to the PowerPoint slide.

MESSAGE:

As an Alaskan who is concerned about my state's wildlife, I am writing to express my surprise and disappointment with your plans for a state-funded campaign to promote the aerial gunning of wolves and other predators.

Earlier this summer, you signed off on legislation that set aside $400,000 for a "major public relations effort" to support the state's brutal, unfair and unnecessary aerial gunning program. I am strongly opposed to using state funds for this purpose -- funds which could be used for more effective wildlife conservation efforts.

As Alaskans get ready to head to the polls next year to vote on the important issue of whether to restrict the aerial gunning of wolves and other predators, this effort seems like a state-funded political campaign.

The Alaska Daily News summed it up best in their August 28, 2007 editorial: "Timed to coincide with a 2008 ballot initiative to sharply restrict aerial wolf control, this looks like Fish and Game is getting marching orders to use state funds to influence an election."

Early in your term, you pledged to abide by the "will of the people" -- and the people have spoken on the issue of aerial gunning. Twice before, Alaskans have voted to restrict the barbaric and unnecessary practice. Yet you and your administration continue to take steps to expand the deadly aerial gunning program, offering bounties for severed wolf legs, proposing to use helicopters as well as fixed-wing aircraft and introducing legislation to make it far easier to kill wolves and bears.

Please, Governor Palin, do not listen only to the Alaska Outdoor Council and other extreme hunting organizations which do not represent mainstream hunters who support fair-chase and do not believe in the need for predator control in order to have healthy game populations.

The $400,000 campaign that you approved smells like state-funded electioneering to influence Alaskan voter opinion on an issue we have repeatedly rejected. I hope you will reconsider this flagrant misuse of Alaska's public dollars.

Importance: High

Hi Denise,

It was good talking with you yesterday.

I left you a message earlier today to apprise you of a situation that occurred this morning. Senator Green, in a meeting with the Governor, said that the Governor publicly declared financial support for the Miners when she and I attended Governor's day at the park last summer. Senator Green further stated that the Governor "committed to these funding projects" and specifically, "would use her personal discretionary funds" to cover the cost of the renovations at Hermon Brothers Field. Further, Senator Green said that you are writing her a letter confirming Governor Palin's financial commitment to these projects, and that you will reference a conversation from the ballpark in which the Governor committed a state appropriation to the Hermon Brothers renovations.

I am concerned by Senator Green's comments as they are contrary to the conversation you and I had yesterday when you acknowledged the Governor made no promises other than to revisit it in the future. It is unfortunate that these events are unfolding and that Senator Green and her staff are trying to insinuate - as relayed by Ginger's phone call to you - that the Governor doesn't remember you or support the Miners. The Governor certainly does and she enjoyed her time at the park throwing out the pitch, talking to the sport announcers, and receiving the Miners' t-shirt. As the Governor relayed to you (and I reiterated yesterday), she appreciates all that you and Pete do, and your commitment to the community.

I would like to further discuss this with you when you have an opportunity. You can reach me at 351-2880.

Thanks Denise.

Kris

We just sent the press release out on the government funding of elections initiative. They have enough signatures to get on the ballot.

Also, we will soon release the same news on both 07WATR and 07WTR3, the so called "clean water" initiatives. Whether those will go to the ballot depends on the outcome of the litigation. Bottom line, they have enough signatures to qualify. (Still CONFIDENTIAL until the press release goes out since we have to notify sponsors.)

Are we still looking for help in the media relations /communications area?

Alyse came across a woman (who interviewed for a management job where Alyse is working) with an outstanding pedigree in that field. Her name is Privileged or Personal Mat
Privileged or Personal Material Redacted

I've attached her resume. Let me know if you want Alyse to have Privileged or P submit something more formal.

Hope this helps.
